

Harvard-wide Pediatric Health Services Research Fellowship Program

2024 APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Deadline: September 8, 2023 (for July 2024 entry)

For applicants who will already be based at one of our fellowship program sites (Boston Children's Hospital, MassGeneral Hospital for Children, or Department of Population Medicine at Harvard Pilgrim Healthcare Institute) in July 2024:

- One of your three letters of recommendation must be from your Department or Division Chief/Chair. In this letter, your Chief should indicate your program's willingness to support the portion of your Master's tuition that is not covered by our grant in addition to an annual administrative fee. Together, this is approximately $40K over two years.
- Note that we do require all fellows to obtain a Master's in Public Health in Clinical Effectiveness at the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health unless comparable Masters training has already been completed. Please feel free to discuss your prior training with the Director, if appropriate.

For those who do not have a secured position at one of our fellowship program sites for July 2024:

- Please be aware that part of our application process involves finding an institutional program site that might be a good fit for an applicant's research interests.
- Please take advantage of online resources to investigate potential mentorship opportunities at our various program sites as you develop your application. Our fellowship program does not employ fellows. Therefore, all trainees must be based in a Division or Department at one of our institutional program sites during the fellowship. During the selection process, the HSR Fellowship will work with you to find a suitable position within one of the three institutions.

General:

- Our application is a two-step process. We will notify applicants, typically within 1-2 weeks after the submission deadline, whether they will be invited for an interview and to continue with the application process.
- Due to the short turn around between when we are able to notify applicants of final acceptance to our program (mid to late November) and the due date for Harvard Chan applications (December 1), we strongly recommend interested applicants, who would be applying to the MPH program, to submit their application pending our decision.

For applicants to the Boston Children's Hospital Pediatric Health Equity Fellowship:

- Please check the box on the Application Form indicating your interest in also being considered for this additional fellowship.
- Note that only those with faculty positions currently affiliated with Boston Children's Hospital are eligible to apply for this fellowship.
- See the BCH HSR Health Equity Fellowship Flyer for additional details about this offering.
